

417天眼通0218-重写作文

天眼通 三

It is essential to use language for international communication, and it also showed a strange views all over the world, people speaking many kinds of language. How to link the gap between different language and different habits is so tricky. ?

Create a new kind of language is a wise choice, it leads everyone using it no matter where they come from, and it shows an appearance benifts that it brige the gap of language barrier. It is obviously promote people to using the new kind of language, and it also leads them communicating more efficiency.

As we know, English is the most popular language of the world, many people even regard it as the one any only language. Especially in some more den city, such as Now York, London and Shanghai. If we met someone, the first language we choose is English. We regard it as a tool to realize people's thinking and express our feeling.

If we invent a new language for international communication like English, it will attracts many people learning it. And it will cost humans' time to earn money and waste of energy.

In conclution, it is no need to spend time and money to creating a new kind of language for international communication, it denfinetly will cost many times to invent and take effort to learned it very well.

好好复习课件!!