• How can elderly people better enjoy their retirement?

- Well, this is something that I've thought about before. My plan is to keep learning when I'm retired, so perhaps retirement is not a time to slow down; it might be a good idea for senior citizens to attend some institutes that offer classes especially for retirees. Or if they're knowledgeable about a subject, they could teach at these institutes too, even without any official teaching experience. What they do at an institute like this is engage in meaningful activities, have fun, or perhaps dig deeper into an area that they've learned about before. Having such a stimulating environment should be beneficial to elderly people.

- What do you think is the impact of technology on relationships?

- In my opinion, the impact of technology on relationships can be both positive and negative.
- On one hand, technology allows us to stay connected with loved ones even when we are not in the same place.
- Like we can talk with our family members or friends through video calls and on social media. You know, WeChat is the most popular app in our country and it allows people to stay in touch with others no matter where we are in the world.

- On the other hand, technology can also create a sense of disconnection during face-to-face interactions.
- Imagine that you're on a date, and you're trying to talk with your date, but they keep looking at their phone; they're always distracted by social media. This kind of phenomenon is very problematic for relationships.
