Topic 1 未实现的志向*1. Is it important for children to have ambitions?

Yes, I think it's important for children to have ambitions. They should have a goal that they can work towards<sup>1</sup>. It helps keep them motivated through everyday life. In the process of pursuing their dreams, they can also learn how to stick to their goals and not be afraid of challenges. Plus, it gives them a sense of achievement<sup>2</sup> when they accomplish their goals.

2. Are all ambitions good in life?

No, I don't think all ambitions are good in life. Sometimes, ambitions can be too self-centred<sup>3</sup>. For example, some people only want to get rich. They don't care about what it might cost them. I think those kinds of goals are too vain<sup>4</sup>. So there are definitely some ambitions that are toxic<sup>5</sup>.

3. What are the important qualities to achieve our ambitions?

I think you need to be hard-working and patient. For one, you should make a realistic plan and work hard to follow it. You have to put your best effort into<sup>6</sup> making your dreams come true. Besides, you have to be persistent, even if you fail a couple times. If you don't have the dedication<sup>7</sup>, you might quit before you make it.

4. What ambitions do children usually have?

Children usually have big ambitions about<sup>8</sup> what their future will look like. Adults like to ask children, what do you want to be when you grow up? Children always have really exciting answers like astronaut or famous athlete. They also may have ambitions about their personal lives, like when they will get married and have their own families. I think it's a reflection of<sup>9</sup> different kids' personalities.

见下页

<sup>2</sup> gives them a sense of achievement: 给他们一种成就感

<sup>3</sup> self-centred: 自我中心的

<sup>5</sup> toxic: 有毒的

<sup>6</sup> put your best effort into: 尽你最大的努力去...

<sup>7</sup> dedication: 奉献; 全身心的投入

5. Why are some people very ambitious in their work?

I suppose that it's mainly because they want to get promoted<sup>10</sup>. They might start as an intern<sup>11</sup>, but they want to become a manager or CEO. Some people become more ambitious because they're insecure. They are often worried that they aren't good enough and might be laid off<sup>12</sup> some day. It's really normal in China because our society is so competitive.

6. Why don't some people have dreams?

Some people don't have dreams because they're unsure of what to do with their lives<sup>13</sup>. They haven't found out what they're passionate about. But others are too afraid to dream something big. They're worried about how much time and effort they'll have to put into pursuing the dream<sup>14</sup>. For example, a lot of people love reading or listening to music. But they don't dream of being professional writers or musicians.

7. How do people balance work and life?

Well, I think one strategy is to ensure that your work life and your home life are physically separated<sup>15</sup>. It allows you to be more focused at work and be more productive, so you will have more spare time for your family. Another strategy is to set boundaries with your work<sup>16</sup>. For example, you can set a rule to not check your work email after 7pm everyday so that you can enjoy more family time at night.

(Copyrights to 雅思过过过淘宝店铺)

<sup>10</sup> get promoted: 被升职

<sup>11</sup> start as an intern: 从实习生做起

<sup>12</sup> be laid off: 被下岗；被解雇

<sup>13</sup> they're unsure of what to do with their lives: 他们不知道他们的人生该做些什么

<sup>14</sup> how much time and effort they'll have to put into pursuing the dream: 要花多少时间和付出多少努力去追求梦想

<sup>15</sup> physically separated: 在物理上分隔开；指不要在家办公

<sup>16</sup> set boundaries with your work: 给你的工作设定规矩界限

Topic 2 准备过的开心活动

1. How can you be a well-prepared person?

I think you need to manage your time well. You should be organized so that you don't get overwhelmed by all your tasks. For example, you should make plans or budgets for the tasks beforehand<sup>17</sup>. That way, you can be prepared for anything. You should also be flexible. You have to be able to handle challenges whenever they come up<sup>18</sup>.

2. How can parents help children get organized?

I suppose that parents can help children get organized by listing their daily tasks. Then, children can focus on doing one task at a time. Parents can also help children manage their time well. They can divide the day into sections<sup>19</sup> and help their kids plan what to do for each hour.

3. On what occasions do people need to be organized?

People need to be organized for important events, like vacations. When you go on a trip, you need to keep track of all the details<sup>20</sup>, like your flight and hotel. Besides, people have to be organized in their day-to-day life, especially at work. For example, many people deal with countless<sup>21</sup> emails, files and calls in the office during the day, so they have to know how to manage their work efficiently.

4. Does everything need to be well prepared?

Well, yes, I suppose that everyone can benefit from being more prepared and organized in their lives. When people are well-prepared, they feel more confident. Being organized also helps with time management. If you are well-organized, you can complete more tasks in a day. Also, people in your life will think of you as reliable and trustworthy<sup>22</sup> if you're always prepared.

5. Do people need others' help when organizing things?

Well, yes. If some people are bad at time management, or if they are just new in a professional field<sup>23</sup>, then, I think it's really nice to have someone to help them get organized. There are a lot of professions that help people become organized, including accountants, travel agents, and teachers. Family and friends can also help each other become more organized by giving advice when needed.

(Copyrights to 雅思过过过淘宝店铺)

<sup>17</sup> beforehand: 事先; 在...之前

<sup>18</sup> handle challenges whenever they come up: 无论什么时候有挑战, 都能应对它们

<sup>19</sup> divide the day into sections: 把一天分成几部分

<sup>20</sup> keep track of all the details: 清楚明了一切细枝末节

的事情

<sup>21</sup> countless: 数不清的

<sup>22</sup> think of you as reliable and trustworthy: 认为你是可靠的和值得信赖的人

<sup>23</sup> they are just new in a professional field: 是一个专业领域的新人

Topic 3 想要送朋友的礼物

1. When do people normally send gifts to others?

People normally send each other gifts on special occasions, like birthdays or holidays. Anniversaries are also a good occasion for gifts<sup>24</sup>. For example, people give their partners gifts on the anniversary of when they got married<sup>25</sup>. Sometimes they give gifts to celebrate special achievements, like someone's graduation.

2. Do people give gifts or red packets during traditional festivals?

Yes, a lot of people give both gifts and red packets during traditional festivals<sup>26</sup>. For example, Chinese New Year is a very important celebration. People usually hand out red envelopes to bring happiness and blessings<sup>27</sup>. I think it's a nice tradition. It's also common to give gifts like fruit baskets, tea, and candy or chocolate. It helps the festival feel special.

3. Is it hard to choose a gift?

Yes, I think that sometimes it can be stressful. If you don't know the person well, you might not know what they like. It can be difficult finding something that they'll want to have. It can still be hard if you know the person well. You might have a lot of ideas for a gift, but it can be challenging to<sup>28</sup> pick the best one.

4. Is clothing a good gift? Is it easy to choose a piece of clothing as a gift?

Well, sometimes clothing can be a good gift. If you know the person's style, it'll probably be easy to find something they'll like. But it can be hard to choose a piece of clothing as a gift. You have to know their size as well as their style. It can be awkward if<sup>29</sup> you get them something too big or too small.

见下页

<sup>24</sup> a good occasion for gifts: 送礼的好时机; 送礼物的好场合

<sup>25</sup> on the anniversary of when they got married: 在他们结婚纪念日那天

<sup>26</sup> give both gifts and red packets during traditional festivals: 在 Part3 聊天的过程中越灵活的回答越好,

比如题目问人们喜欢 A 还是 B, 你也可以回答 AB 都喜欢, 并不是必须只能选择一项。

<sup>27</sup> bring happiness and blessings: 带来幸福和保佑; 这句话是指送红包祝福他人

<sup>28</sup> it can be challenging to: 很难的...; 很有挑战性的...

<sup>29</sup> It can be awkward if: 如果...会很尴尬

5. Will people feel happy when receiving an expensive gift?

I think most people feel happy when they get an expensive gift. Gifts are a way of showing someone that you care about them. When that gift is expensive, people feel special because they realize that it cost a lot to give<sup>30</sup>. But not everyone cares about the cost of a gift. Some people might even feel overwhelmed by getting something too expensive, especially if the gift-giver is not very well off<sup>31</sup>.

6. What do people usually consider when choosing gifts?

People usually consider price first. I would say most people have a budget<sup>32</sup> when they buy a gift. In most cases, people won't break their budget<sup>33</sup> and buy things that are too expensive. Besides, people will also consider if the gift will be useful or attractive to the person who receives it. After all, people give gifts to make others happy, right?

(Copyrights to 雅思过过过淘宝店铺)

---

<sup>30</sup> it cost a lot to give: 送这个礼物要花很多钱

<sup>31</sup> well off: 有钱的; 富有的

<sup>33</sup> break their budget: 超出预算

Topic 4 别人给你的衣服

1. Have you ever given clothes to others?

Yes, I give my friends and my cousins clothes all the time. We usually exchange clothes if we get tired of wearing them<sup>34</sup>, or if they don't fit anymore. Giving people clothes is much more helpful than just throwing the clothes away<sup>35</sup>. It's very wasteful if you only wear something a couple times.

2. Why do people dress casually in everyday life but dress formally at work?

Well, in everyday life, you're just hanging out with friends or family. Or you might even be by yourself. You don't have to impress anyone. But when you're at work, you're doing serious business. You need to look professional. In most cases<sup>36</sup>, it's actually considered rude to wear casual clothes to the workplace. It shows a lack of respect for<sup>37</sup> your coworkers and boss.

3. What are the advantages and disadvantages of wearing uniforms at work and school?

One advantage of uniforms is that it makes everyone equal. Especially in school, people can get very focused on appearances. But if everyone has a uniform on, then no one can be judged<sup>38</sup>. Uniforms also make everyone feel like part of the same team. But a disadvantage is that people can't express themselves. You don't get as much individuality<sup>39</sup>.

4. Why do people from different countries wear different clothing?

Well, fashion is very connected to culture. It represents different cultural values and is influenced by trends in society<sup>40</sup>. Different countries have different values and traditions, so their fashion is very different as well. Besides, clothing depends on the environment. For example, countries with cold climates wear warmer, heavier clothing. But in tropical countries<sup>41</sup>, it's more common to wear loose, bright clothing.

5. Do you think dressing formally makes people look more professional?

Yes, I think that dressing formally makes you look more professional. If you're wearing a T-shirt and jeans, you come across as a more relaxed person. But if you're wearing a fancy dress, or a nice suit, then you look confident and mature. It helps you appear professional to others<sup>42</sup>. Formal clothes make a huge difference when it comes to self-presentation<sup>43</sup>.

(Copyrights to 雅思过过过淘宝店铺)

<sup>34</sup> get tired of wearing them: 穿烦了, 不想穿了

<sup>35</sup> throwing the clothes away: 把衣服扔掉

<sup>36</sup> In most cases: 大部分情况下

<sup>37</sup> It shows a lack of respect for: 这会看起来不尊重...

<sup>38</sup> no one can be judged: 没人会被说三道四

<sup>39</sup> You don't get as much individuality: 你就没有那么

多个性化的地方了

<sup>40</sup> trends in society: 社会潮流

<sup>41</sup> tropical countries: 热带国家

<sup>42</sup> It helps you appear professional to others: 会让别人看起来你很专业

<sup>43</sup> self-presentation: 自我展示

Topic 5 特别的蛋糕

1. What is the difference between special food in China and foreign countries?

Well, a lot of special foods in China use more unique parts of the animal<sup>44</sup>. It means that every part of the animal can be eaten. For example, rabbit heads and duck necks are so popular in China. In contrast, some foreign countries have special dishes that avoid using meat altogether<sup>45</sup>. They're always known for different kinds of desserts.

2. Do people usually cook special food in China?

We usually cook special foods for certain occasions<sup>46</sup>. I mean, special foods like mooncakes or rice dumplings can be bought at grocery stores. But lots of Chinese people still enjoy the process of making them at home. For example, it's a tradition for the whole family to make dumplings together on the Spring Festival Eve. It's an important bonding time<sup>47</sup> for the family every year.

3. Should special food be easily available?

I think that if the special food requires an ingredient that's seasonal, it doesn't need to be easily available. It's worth it to only make something when it's in season<sup>48</sup>. For example, hairy crabs<sup>49</sup> are only available in the autumn, which is a special food for Mid-Autumn Day in China. It helps make the dish feel truly special.

4. When do people have special food? (like festival food or food for special events)

I think people eat special food when they have something to celebrate. For example, you usually get to eat cake when it's someone's birthday. Many people also like to celebrate a new house or graduation with a fancy feast<sup>50</sup>. Besides, you can cook and enjoy traditional foods during certain festivals.

见下页

<sup>44</sup> unique parts of the animal: 动物的特殊部位

<sup>45</sup> avoid using meat altogether: 完全不使用肉类

<sup>46</sup> for certain occasions: 为某些特定场合

<sup>47</sup> bonding time: 增进感情的时间

<sup>48</sup> It's worth it to only make something when it's in season: 值得去做一些应季的东西（美食）

5. Is there any food in your country that is eaten at special times or on special occasions?

Yes, Chinese people eat lots of specialties<sup>51</sup> during festivals, important events or special days. For example, mooncakes are made and eaten for the mid-autumn day. It's also a tradition in China to eat dumplings on the spring festival eve. And in many regions of China, people love having a bowl of long life noodles<sup>52</sup> on their birthday.

6. Why are some people willing to spend a lot of money on meals on special days?

For them, it's worth it to spend a lot of money to celebrate something. It's nice to take your family or significant other<sup>53</sup> to a fancy restaurant to celebrate their birthdays or anniversaries, or even an engagement. It might be really expensive. But the memories and joy from the meal will make it worth it<sup>54</sup>.

7. Do you think it's good to communicate when eating with your family?

Yes, communicating during mealtimes with family is very important. Family members might not be able to spend a lot of time together because of work or school. But they can talk and see how everyone is doing over a meal<sup>55</sup>. Actually dinner is really important for me and my family. It's a rare chance for us all to talk<sup>56</sup>.

(Copyrights to 雅思过过过淘宝店铺)

<sup>51</sup> specialties: 特色食品

<sup>52</sup> having a bowl of long life noodles: 吃一碗长寿面

<sup>53</sup> significant other: 配偶；另一半

<sup>54</sup> make it worth it: 让它物有所值

<sup>55</sup> talk and see how everyone is doing over a meal: 吃饭的时候聊天和了解每个人过得怎么样

<sup>56</sup> a rare chance for us all to talk: 对我们来说是一个难得的聊天机会

Topic 6 一个去过的新地方

1. Which do you prefer, living in a city or only visiting it as a tourist?

I prefer living in a city. A lot of people get overwhelmed<sup>57</sup> by how fast-paced<sup>58</sup> cities are. But I really enjoy living in a city because there are so many exciting opportunities there. Whether it's a cool job or something fun to do on the weekend, the city has a lot to offer<sup>59</sup>. Plus, there's always a ton of amazing restaurants.

2. How do young children react when they go to school for the first time?

I believe most young children are pretty excited to go to school for the first time. Of course, Some kids are anxious about a new environment. So they may feel nervous on the first day of school. But most kids are curious about school. They're eager to<sup>60</sup> be with their friends and learn about the world. So the first day at school can be really fun for them.

3. What might young people feel at their first workplace after they just graduated from college?

I suppose that a lot of young people feel overwhelmed at their first workplace. Getting a job can be a scary process. For example, a lot of young people are worried about not getting along with their boss or coworkers. Others might not think they're ready or qualified to have their job. It's hard to adjust to big life changes<sup>61</sup>.

4. How do young and old people react differently to new things?

It seems to me that young people are a lot more open to new things<sup>62</sup>. When they encounter something new, they're curious and willing to try it. Old people, on the other hand, might be too overwhelmed by new things. They might feel hesitant or even suspicious<sup>63</sup> if it's too different from what they're used to.

见下页

<sup>57</sup> get overwhelmed: 精神上压力很大

<sup>58</sup> fast-paced: 快节奏

<sup>59</sup> the city has a lot to offer: 这座城市能提供给人们的东西有很多

<sup>60</sup> They're eager to: 他们渴望去...

<sup>61</sup> adjust to big life changes: 适应生活中的重大变化

5. Why do some people want to go to college far away from home?

I think that some people move far away for college because they want to have brand-new experiences<sup>64</sup>. If you stay in the same area your whole life, you won't get exposed to new things. By going somewhere far away, people get to be a part of a new community and broaden their horizons<sup>65</sup>.

6. What are the advantages and disadvantages of studying abroad or working abroad?

Well, one big advantage is that you get to experience a new place. You can learn about the local culture and try new foods. Plus, you can enjoy the natural scenery and do some sightseeing<sup>66</sup>. However, it can be very lonely if you don't know the language. You might feel isolated<sup>67</sup> because you don't know anyone.

(Copyrights to 雅思过过过淘宝店铺)

<sup>64</sup> brand-new experiences: 全新的经历; 全新的体验

<sup>65</sup> broaden their horizons: 开阔眼界

<sup>66</sup> do some sightseeing: 观光; 观景

<sup>67</sup> feel isolated: 感到孤独; 感到孤单

Topic 7 有趣的城市

1. What advantages can tourism bring to a city?

Tourism can help improve a city's economy. Tourists spend lots of money at local restaurants and other businesses. So that helps support the city's finances. Another benefit is that tourism creates more jobs. Local citizens can get jobs as tour guides and work with visitors. Plus, with lots of tourists coming, the city can invest in improving the infrastructure<sup>68</sup>.

2. Why do some young people like to live in cities?

I think some young people like living in cities because there are more opportunities. If they're looking for jobs in something like technology or finance, a city has lots of options. Plus, cities offer great food and entertainment. There's always something exciting or cool going on in the city<sup>69</sup>, especially late at night and on the weekends.

3. Do most elderly people live in the city or in the countryside?

Well, most elderly people live in the countryside. Cities have a lot of resources for older people, such as good healthcare in major hospitals<sup>70</sup>. But cities are also very fast-paced<sup>71</sup>. They can be overwhelming for the elderly. So I think that as people get older, they tend to move out to the countryside. Things are much more relaxed there.

4. Do you think well-developed tourism will have negative effects on local people?

Well, yes. I mean, tourism can bring a lot of great benefits. But there are definitely some drawbacks<sup>72</sup>. Too many tourists might disturb or even damage the natural scenery. That can be a disadvantage for the people who live there and want to enjoy that scenery for themselves. Besides, some tourists might disrespect the local culture<sup>73</sup>. They may annoy the local citizens.

(Copyrights to 雅思过过过淘宝店铺)

<sup>68</sup> invest in improving the infrastructure: 为改善基础设施拨款，也就是政府有钱改善基础设施了

<sup>69</sup> There's always something exciting or cool going on in the city: 城里总是有很多有趣好玩的事情；城里的生活总是很精彩的

<sup>70</sup> good healthcare in major hospitals: 大医院的良好的医疗保健服务

<sup>71</sup> fast-paced: 快节奏的

<sup>72</sup> there are definitely some drawbacks: 当然是有缺点的

<sup>73</sup> disrespect the local culture: 不尊重当地文化

Topic 8 乡村一隅

1. Is there anything special about the villages in your country?

Well, of course I think that the villages in my country are special in their own way<sup>74</sup>. Lots of villages have beautiful and unique scenery. Many people love visiting the farms in spring for the views. Plus, the local communities there usually have unique traditions and customs. For example, many villages have ancestry temples<sup>75</sup> where the local villagers worship their ancestors<sup>76</sup>.

2. What do people usually do when going to a village?

Emm...some people like visiting family, and some enjoy travelling to villages. Sometimes villages have unique scenery that you can't find in major cities. So people might be travelling to see an ancient temple<sup>77</sup> or a natural wonder<sup>78</sup> like a waterfall. But it's also common for people to visit family or friends who live in villages.

3. Do you think people will live in the village in the future?

Yes, I think more and more people want to live in cities. There are usually more job opportunities there, especially in fields like finance or technology. But villages are more relaxed than cities. So I'm sure some people prefer living in villages. Those who love living a simple and slow life would rather<sup>79</sup> live somewhere more relaxed.

4. Do you think everyone likes the countryside?

No, I don't think everyone enjoys the countryside. Some people need to live in a busy environment like a city in order to be happy. So they might hate living in the countryside. They might get bored with the slower pace of life<sup>80</sup>. Plus, the countryside doesn't have many job opportunities. So that might be frustrating as well<sup>81</sup>.

5. Why do people want to go to the countryside?

I think people want to go to the countryside so they can relax. In the city, everything is so fast-paced<sup>82</sup>. Plus, it's super crowded. It's very easy to get overwhelmed. But in the countryside, there's much more space. You can enjoy the natural scenery without getting stuck in a crowded area<sup>83</sup>. Life is more relaxed there, which can be a nice change.

(Copyrights to 雅思过过过淘宝店铺)

<sup>74</sup> special in their own way: 有自己特别的地方

<sup>75</sup> ancestry temples: 祠堂; 宗祠

<sup>76</sup> the local villagers worship their ancestors: 当地村民祭拜他们祖先

<sup>77</sup> an ancient temple: 一座古庙

<sup>78</sup> natural wonder: 自然景观

<sup>79</sup> would rather: 宁愿; 宁可

<sup>80</sup> the slower pace of life: 慢节奏的生活

<sup>81</sup> as well: 也会

<sup>82</sup> fast-paced: 快节奏的

Topic 9 远距离步行*1. What outdoor activities do people like?

I think people like getting exercise and socializing at the same time. So going for a walk is a great outdoor activity. You can enjoy the scenery<sup>84</sup> and also talk with your friends. Besides, people also like doing something more active like biking. It can be a good bonding experience if you do it with others.

2. What are the differences between the outdoor activities children did in the past and now?

I would say that kids were much more active in the past. They liked activities like climbing trees or catching bugs<sup>85</sup> in nature. But nowadays, kids are addicted to video games. They still do outdoor activities, like riding a scooter or playing with a frisbee<sup>86</sup>. But lots of kids watch cartoons or play games on their phones when they are in a park. It's not good for their health.

3. Is leisure time important to everyone? Why?

Yes, leisure time is important to everyone. Even if people like being busy, it's healthy for them to have a break. You can exercise, hang out with friends or family, and enjoy doing whatever you like<sup>87</sup>. That can help you avoid getting too stressed out<sup>88</sup>. You can only be productive at work or study if you get enough rest. It's important to not work all the time.

4. Do women have more leisure time than men?

No, I don't think so. Now that men and women are often both in the workforce, society should treat them equally. In fact, women are often busier than men because a lot of them also do more household chores<sup>89</sup> than men. Besides, in some families, the women are still expected to do more of the parenting<sup>90</sup>. For these reasons, I don't believe women can have more leisure time than men.

(Copyrights to 雅思过过过淘宝店铺)

<sup>84</sup> enjoy the scenery: 欣赏风景

<sup>85</sup> catching bugs: 抓虫子

<sup>86</sup> playing with a frisbee: 玩飞盘

<sup>87</sup> enjoy doing whatever you like: 做任何你喜欢做的

<sup>88</sup> avoid getting too stressed out: 避免压力太大

<sup>89</sup> household chores: 家务

<sup>90</sup> parenting: 育儿方式

Topic 10 想共度时光的人

1. What kind of people are easy to get along with?

I think people who are easygoing and agreeable<sup>91</sup> are the easiest to get along with. You can trust them to be kind to whoever they meet<sup>92</sup>. Plus, it's also easy to be around optimistic people. They like looking on the bright side of things<sup>93</sup>, so they are always nice to friends and hardly argue with them.

2. How do leaders get along with their subordinates?

I suppose that in general, leaders try to connect with their subordinates. Leaders want to get to know<sup>94</sup> the people who work for them. Of course, they still need to be professional and earn their employees' respect<sup>95</sup>. But I think they try to make their employees feel respected and cared for. That way, their workers feel happy and satisfied with their jobs.

3. Do people have time for themselves nowadays?

Well, most adults work full-time jobs, and they also need to take care of their families. So it can be very difficult for them to find time to relax. It's hard for them to establish a good work-life balance. Actually I think that as the cost of living continues to increase<sup>96</sup>, it becomes more challenging to find time for themselves.

4. Do you like talking with older people? Why?

Yes, I like talking with older people. They can share lots of details about what life used to be like. I always love talking with my grandparents. They usually tell me some fun stories from when they were my age<sup>97</sup>. Plus, older people have more life experience. So they can always give you great advice.

(Copyrights to 雅思过过过淘宝店铺)

<sup>91</sup> easygoing and agreeable: 随和的,和蔼可亲的

<sup>92</sup> You can trust them to be kind to whoever they meet: 你可以相信他们会对遇到的任何一个人友善

Topic 11 不喜欢的规则

1. What are the rules students should follow at school?

I think that a good rule is respecting everyone at school. Whether it's their teachers or their peers<sup>98</sup>, students need to be polite. They shouldn't be rude or disrespectful to people. Students should also try to avoid interrupting lessons<sup>99</sup>. It can be very distracting to the other students who are trying to learn.

2. Are the rules at school good or bad? Why?

I think that most rules at school are good. They remind students of<sup>100</sup> what behaviour is appropriate. For example, rules that forbid bullying<sup>101</sup> are important because it helps keep students safe and happy. However, some rules can be ridiculous. For example, some schools forbid female students from having long hair. Rules like that can make students frustrated.

3. What rules should children follow at home?

I think children should follow some basic rules. For example, they should go to bed on time; and they should only watch TV when their parents allow them to. Generally speaking, parents know what's best for them. The rules at home are there to encourage the children's growth<sup>102</sup>, both mentally and physically. So children need to listen to their parents and follow their rules.

4. How are people punished when parking in a wrong spot?

People usually get punished for parking in the wrong spot by getting a ticket. That ticket usually comes with an expensive fine. Most people think parking tickets are ridiculous. But in some cases, it's deserved<sup>103</sup>. If you park in front of a fire hydrant<sup>104</sup>, for instance, you might make it harder for the firefighters in case of an emergency.

5. Do people in your country often break rules?

Most people in my country obey the law<sup>105</sup>. But of course, there are always exceptions<sup>106</sup>. I think whenever people break the law regularly, it's usually a traffic law. Lots of drivers speed, especially during the work week. But for serious things like the lockdowns and mandatory testing for Covid-19<sup>107</sup>, Chinese people rarely break the rules.

Topic 12 对社会有贡献的人

1. What jobs are well-paid?

There are lots of jobs that pay well. For example, nowadays coding is a very valuable skill. So programmers can easily find high-paying jobs. That's why lots of college graduates apply at IT companies. Besides, being a lawyer is a profession that pays really well. After all, lawyers have to deal with tons of complicated legal issues<sup>108</sup>.

2. What are the changes in working conditions?

It seems to me that in general, working conditions have improved. A lot of jobs are more accommodating for any special needs<sup>109</sup>. For example, more and more companies have started allowing workers to take a nap after lunch. Some of them even provide lounge chairs<sup>110</sup>. I think it's mainly because workers have more rights than they used to.

3. What are the impacts of the epidemic on the work environment?

Well, one impact of the epidemic is that lots of people are working from home<sup>111</sup> now. That's great for some people but more challenging for others, like parents with young children at home. In the future, a majority of<sup>112</sup> jobs might move online. So unfortunately, jobs that can't be done remotely might disappear.

4. Which jobs in your country have low wages? Why are their wages low?

Unfortunately, a lot of essential jobs<sup>113</sup> have low wages. People who work in the service industry don't get paid a lot. People who do manual labour<sup>114</sup> also have low wages. For example, factory workers and labourers are some of the lowest-paying jobs. I think it's mainly because those jobs don't require much skills and education. So the workers doing these jobs can be easily replaced.

5. What working skills or skills useful for work should be taught to high school students?

I think high school students should have to study accounting. Learning how to do that kind of math is really helpful for lots of jobs in business or finance. High school students should also learn some basic technology skills. They should learn about different software and learn how to use a computer well. Those skills are a must<sup>115</sup> when entering the job market.

6. What working skills or skills useful for work should be taught to college students?

Well, college students should learn how to write well. They should learn how to communicate well and make a persuasive argument<sup>116</sup>. It will help them become more successful at work, no matter what field they go into. Besides, it would be helpful for them to learn coding. It might seem weird, but<sup>117</sup> coding is useful in lots of different jobs.

7. Do you think younger people should be lower-paid than older people?

In some cases<sup>118</sup>, I think younger people should be paid the same as old people. For example, if they're doing the same job with the same level of experience, they should get equal pay<sup>119</sup>. However, if an older person has been working at a company for longer, they might get paid more because of their experience. That's pretty normal.

Topic 13 别人讲述的故事

1. Do young children like the same stories as older children?

No, I don't think they like the same stories. Preschoolers<sup>120</sup> and even older children like stories that have a lot of action. They also love stories with complicated plots<sup>121</sup>. But toddlers like stories that are simple and fun. They like stories that aren't too scary or thrilling. Anything that's light and entertaining<sup>122</sup> is good for them.

2. How has technology changed storytelling?

Well, I believe technology has made storytelling more entertaining. Animation is a great example. In the past, animation looked very plain<sup>123</sup> and wasn't very impressive. But now, with new software, animation can look almost as convincing as real life<sup>124</sup>. There are so many different art styles that can be used in animation. So filmmakers can create really interesting and beautiful stories.

3. How do people tell stories to children?

I think people usually simplify things<sup>125</sup> when they tell stories to children. It can help children understand the stories easily. Besides, adults don't want to tell their kids about anything too mature. So they tell stories that are just fun and entertaining. Sometimes, they even use silly voices to make the kids laugh<sup>126</sup>.

4. Why do children like stories?

Children like stories because they're entertaining. When you listen to a really good story, you get totally immersed in it<sup>127</sup>. Stories can make you laugh, or they can even make you cry. Besides, when children listen to stories, they can learn about the world. Stories help them understand some more serious topics. For example, the story of the rabbit and the turtle helps children understand the meaning of perseverance<sup>128</sup>.

5. Some children watch TV for a long time; do you think that is good or not?

I think it's a bad thing because children might become addicted to<sup>129</sup> TV and never get any physical exercise or social interaction<sup>130</sup>. Generally speaking, kids need to spend more face to face time with their family and friends. Spending more time outside instead of watching TV is very helpful to their physical development as well.

Topic 14 一见且想再见的人

1. What are the ways to make new friends?

People usually make new friends by going to parties or social events. Or they make friends with the people who are around them all the time<sup>131</sup>. For instance, they might become friends with their coworkers. Or if they're at school, they can become friends with their classmates. Some people even make friends online<sup>132</sup>. It sounds funny, but it's very common nowadays.

2. What qualities make a good friend?

I think a good friend is someone who is patient and kind. They can stay calm, even when you're in an argument. They should also be reliable. You can depend on them, no matter what<sup>133</sup>. Besides, a good friend should have some common interests. It can be hard to bond<sup>134</sup> if you don't share any interests or hobbies.

3. How do you maintain friendships?

Friendships can be very hard to maintain. Nowadays, people get really busy with work or school. They might start to neglect their personal relationships. But in order to maintain a friendship, both people need to make an effort<sup>135</sup>. For example, when your friends are in need of help, you should help them even when you have lots of other things to do. You should also communicate your needs<sup>136</sup>. If you start to feel neglected, you have to express that to the other person.

4. On what occasions do people like to make friends?

I think people like making friends when they're in a new environment. For example, when young people go to university, they like making friends in their classes. It's also nice to make friends outside of class<sup>137</sup>. That way, their friends can help them adjust to university life. People also like making friends at their jobs. Getting along with your coworkers makes the job better.

5. Is it important to have the same hobbies and interests when making friends?

I think having some similar hobbies as your friends is important, but not essential<sup>138</sup>. Many people become friends because they're similar. Then they stay friends for a long time because of those interests. But some people have best friends who are really different from them. People can actually enjoy each other's interests and learn a lot from each other.

Topic 15 有趣的讨论

1. When do children normally form their own views?

I would say that children usually form their own views when they're in elementary school. As they grow up<sup>139</sup> and start learning about the world in class, they begin to form opinions. For example, they might think about how they want to treat people. They may also form opinions on other cultures<sup>140</sup> when they learn about them in school.

2. Do children have strong opinions?

Yes, I think children have strong opinions. As kids grow up, they may feel very strongly about their opinions because it's all they know. They just focus on what they're familiar with. So they can be very passionate about what they believe, even if they don't know why they believe it. For example, sometimes you can't talk children down<sup>141</sup> when they want to play on a snowy day, even if you tell them it's unsafe to be in the snow.

3. Should parents request their kids to obey them?

Yes, I think parents should ask their kids to listen to them. Sometimes, parents might demand too much. Children might lose their confidence in decision-making<sup>142</sup>. But for the most part<sup>143</sup>, it's good for kids to listen to their parents. Most of the time, parents know what's best. For example, children need to listen to their parents when they're doing something risky, like crossing a street without looking.

4. In what industries do you think communication is a necessary skill?

Well, communication is a necessary skill in most industries. Actually I think it's most important in business and other fields where you deal with customers. You know, you need to be a good communicator if you're trying to make transactions with people<sup>144</sup>. Communication is also really important if you work in education. After all, effective learning comes from good communication.

5. How can you be a good listener?

Being a good listener is a difficult skill. Many people listen in order to give advice. Or they might connect it to their own lives in some way<sup>145</sup>. This technique can be helpful, but it doesn't always work<sup>146</sup>. Some people want to be listened to, but they don't want advice. They just want to say how they feel and be supported. So I think you should ask the person if they want your opinion, or if they just want to talk.

6. At what age do kids start picking up a hobby or interest?

I think kids usually find a hobby or interest when they're five or six. Around that age, they've developed their personality more. So they know more about what they're interested in. They also have more options. You can't do that many activities<sup>147</sup> when you're super young. But as you get older, you can try out different things, and start finding what suits you.

7. What is the importance of listening?

Listening is very important because communication is dependent on it. You can't have good relationships without strong listening skills. If someone feels like they're not being listened to, they might get upset. So, listening is how we show people that we care about their views<sup>148</sup>. Being a good listener can help you in your relationships with others.

8. Do children often express and share their views with others?

I don't think every kid does that. It's true that some kids naturally love sharing their thoughts with others. But shy kids often hate talking about their opinions. Plus, strict parenting<sup>149</sup> can cause children to be afraid of expressing their views. Some parents are harsh with<sup>150</sup> their kids whenever they speak. So those kids might not want to express themselves.

Topic 16 印象深刻的一节课

1. Which can help you remember things better, words or photos?

It depends on the person. Some people learn better through photos. But others memorize things by reading about them. It also depends on what you're trying to memorize. If you're trying to remember what someone looks like, a photo would be better. But if you're trying to remember a classic poem<sup>151</sup>, you'd have to read it a lot of times.

2. Why do some people have better memory? / What may affect people's memory?

I think that in some cases, it can be due to genetics<sup>152</sup>. But a good memory also depends on other factors. For example, you can remember things better when you have a healthy diet and you exercise regularly. Plus, people who try new activities, like learning a language or an instrument, have a better memory because it keeps their brain active<sup>153</sup>.

3. Why can some people remember some little things in life?

I believe that some people pay attention to the little things because they matter to them<sup>154</sup>. Little things can be important depending on the person. For example, detectives and police officers are very good at recalling small details of crime scenes<sup>155</sup>. But for some other people, they can remember the little things just because they have a great memory.

4. Are young people better at memorizing things than old people? Do young people have a better memory than old people?

No, I don't think so. I actually read in an article that the human brain stays young even as we age<sup>156</sup>. So I don't think that the aging of the brain<sup>157</sup> affects your memory. If someone has a healthy brain when they are old, they will be as good at memorizing things as young people.

5. Do men and women have differences in memory?

Yes, there are actually some differences in memory when it comes to men and women. I read an article not long ago. It says that in general, women are better at remembering things like names, faces, and conversations. They also have better short-term memory<sup>158</sup> than men. Men are usually better at things like navigation<sup>159</sup>. So they can remember directions to a place even if they only went there once.

6. Do people like things with sentimental value?

Yes, people like keeping things that are associated with certain memories<sup>160</sup>. It's very common to keep items from your childhood so you can remember it when you're older. Some people save their favorite toys, while others keep things like sports medals. People also like keeping things from important occasions like graduations and weddings. It helps them preserve special memories<sup>161</sup>.

7. Can technology help people remember things better? How?

Yeah, definitely. One good example is photography. In the past, not many people owned a camera because they were really expensive. But nowadays, basically every cell phone has a camera. You can take pictures and videos of a moment instead of only preserving it in your mind. Then, later on, you can look back at those pictures and videos to fully remember the occasion<sup>162</sup>.

8. How to forget a bad memory?

Well, people can forget a negative memory<sup>163</sup> in a few different ways. First, it might help to talk to someone about it, like a friend or family member. It's a good way to relieve your pain<sup>164</sup>. It can also help make you less sad or scared. Besides, you can try to think of some good memories instead. For example, if the bad memory happened at your school, think of a good memory from school instead.

Topic 17 社交媒体上常刷的人

1. What can people do on social media?

People use social media for lots of different things. A lot of people use it to post updates from their life<sup>165</sup>. They'll show pictures of their pets, their relationships, and all kinds of personal things. Others just use it to follow their favourite celebrities, so that they can see updates of their favorite singers or actors.

2. Do you think older people and younger people will use the same kind of social media software?

No, I don't think they use the same kind of social media sites. Young people usually like using social media apps like Weibo or TikTok. Those apps let you look at lots of posts very quickly. But older people like social media that lets them talk with others more. So they prefer communication-based apps<sup>166</sup> like WeChat and QQ.

3. Do older people spend much time on social media?

No, I don't think older people spend a lot of time on social media. For one<sup>167</sup>, social media moves very quickly. There's always a new post to look at. Some older people might think scrolling through posts on social media<sup>168</sup> is just a waste of time and staring at a cellphone screen could make their eyes sore easily<sup>169</sup>. Besides, older people prefer having face-to-face talks and longer conversations with others. So they don't use social media as much.

4. Are non-social media like television and newspapers still useful?

Yes, I definitely think that television and newspapers are still useful. It's mainly because they go through a lot more fact-checking<sup>170</sup>. Social media is popular but it's not always reliable when it comes to reporting the truth. For example, if you want to learn about the latest government policies, TV and newspapers are a better bet<sup>171</sup>. There are always lots of false information and rumors on social media.

Topic 18 有趣的歌曲

1. Why are many music competitions popular in China?

I think it's because it's fun to support people who are really good at singing. Competitions are always interesting because people pick favourites. Music is something that mostly everyone can enjoy. So combining those two elements definitely makes for fun television<sup>172</sup>. Plus, sometimes the next major singer can come out of those competitions<sup>173</sup>.

2. What kinds of music do young people like?

In general, young people like fun, upbeat music with a really good beat<sup>174</sup>. They want something they can sing along<sup>175</sup> or dance to. For young people who enjoy going to clubs, they need exciting music. Besides, as far as I know, many young people like pop and rock music. Some of them enjoy hip-hop and rap as well.

3. What kinds of people like traditional music?

I would say that older people tend to like traditional music. Some young people listen to it, but I think it's just more enjoyable for the older generations. Most of the classic songs are elegant and slow-tempo<sup>176</sup>. So they're more suitable for the elderly to listen to. But they aren't popular with young people.

4. What are the differences between live concerts and online concerts?

I suppose that the energy levels are pretty different<sup>177</sup>. When it's online, you can't interact with any of the other audience members. And the sound and visuals<sup>178</sup> are pretty different too. On the other hand, when you watch an online concert, you save a lot of money on tickets and travel. But if you want to go see live music<sup>179</sup>, it's super expensive.

Topic 19 帮助学习语言的工具

1. What difficulties do people face when learning a language?

I think the main difficulty in learning a language is memorizing vocabulary. You have to know so many different words. For some languages like Japanese, you have to memorize characters. It's also really hard to get used to a different kind of grammar. Some languages organize sentences in a completely different way<sup>180</sup>. So that's difficult to adjust to.

2. Do you think language learning is important? Why?

Yes, it's important to learn other languages. For one, it helps you connect with people from different countries. Learning foreign languages helps you learn about different cultures and expand your worldview<sup>181</sup>. Plus, being bilingual or trilingual<sup>182</sup> makes you more competitive when it comes to job hunting<sup>183</sup>.

3. Which is better, to study alone or to study in a group? Why?

It seems to me that the best way to study is to do both. Studying alone is better for memorization and review<sup>184</sup>. But studying in a group is better for understanding new, complex topics because you can learn from each other. Actually, when learning a language, you should definitely have a study group. That way, you can practice speaking the language with other people.

4. What's the best way to learn a language?

I suppose that everyone learns better by living in a country where the language is spoken. That way, they can hear it every day and practice speaking it as well. But sometimes you can't do that. So it might be better to listen to the radio in the target language<sup>185</sup>. You can also watch TV and movies in that language.

Topic 20 坏掉又修好的东西

1. Are IT-related jobs valued more by society?

Well, yes. People working in the IT industry are getting paid more than ever<sup>186</sup>. So that shows how valuable those jobs are. Plus, IT jobs make big contributions to society<sup>187</sup>. We basically can't live without technology. Even all the traditional jobs, like doctors, teachers, and police, depend on IT workers. I believe IT jobs will be even more valuable in the future.

2. Is the quality of products worse than before?

Yes, I think the quality of products has declined<sup>188</sup>. Since there are more people than before, the demand for goods is also bigger. To meet the huge demand, most products are mass-produced<sup>189</sup> in factories. So you don't see the same attention to detail<sup>190</sup> as before. But it doesn't mean it's bad for society. In fact, goods manufactured on production lines are usually cheaper.

3. What kinds of things do people like to repair by themselves?

I think it depends on the person. Some people are good at repairs. But others aren't. People who are handy<sup>191</sup> can have a lot of fun repairing things, like home appliances, furniture or even the house itself. For those who think repairing something is too hard, they might just glue something together<sup>192</sup> if it breaks. They would rather have bigger and more valuable items repaired by professionals.

4. Why do people like to get their mobile phones repaired in specialized stores?

Mobile phones are really hard to repair by yourself. If you try to repair your phone and you make a mistake, that could become an even bigger problem. However, if you go to a phone store, they have trained specialists<sup>193</sup>. They can fix the problem quickly<sup>194</sup>. That is why many people prefer to go to a special store.

1. What can children learn from their parents or grandparents? (也可能针对 parents 和 grandparents 分开提问)

Children's parents usually teach them what values they should have<sup>195</sup>. They also teach their kids basic skills, like how to cook a meal or how to do housework. Besides, Children can learn a lot from their grandparents, like their family history. Actually I think children can also learn empathy from their grandparents. They can help them with chores<sup>196</sup>. Helping the elderly can make children kinder and more compassionate<sup>197</sup>.

2. From whom can children learn more, parents or grandparents?

I think that in general, children can learn more from their parents. Grandparents have a lot of important information to share with children. But parents spend the most time with their children. So they can teach them important life skills, like how to manage their time well and how to communicate with others. More importantly, they can teach their kids to have good values<sup>198</sup>.

3. What kind of help do you think older people need?

I would say that older people usually need help adjusting to changes in modern society<sup>199</sup>. For example, older people might need help with new technology. They might not know how to use their phones or social media. So the younger generation can help out with that. As people get old, they also need help with everyday tasks<sup>200</sup>, like eating, dressing and bathing.

4. What skills can young people learn from older people?

I think young people can learn lots of practical skills from older people. For example, a lot of young people don't know how to fix things when they break down<sup>201</sup>. So older people can teach them some technical skills. Actually so many young people don't know how to use a screwdriver<sup>202</sup> or do other household tasks.

1. What kinds of apartments are the most popular?

I think that condos<sup>203</sup> are probably the most popular. Those buildings have great views. There are also lots of benefits. For example, most modern condos have a gym or even a pool. They have good security so you don't have to worry about getting robbed. They also have nice common areas<sup>204</sup>. You can usually go on the roof and enjoy a great view of the city.

2. What are the differences between houses that young people and old people like?

I think young people like apartments because they have better views. If they pick a house, they'll probably like a house in a more modern style. But many old people prefer living in a single home<sup>205</sup> with a big yard. That way, they can plant flowers and vegetables in the yard. Plus, they don't have to worry about stairs in tall buildings.

3. What are the differences between apartments and houses?

Well, apartments can fit multiple families. They are in buildings, either high-rise or low-rise. And most people in cities live in apartments. It's the best way to deal with big populations. Houses, on the other hand, are the most common in the countryside. Families in rural areas have enough space to build their own house. And they are usually designed for one or two families at most<sup>206</sup>.

4. Do people usually rent or buy a house? Why?

People usually save up to buy a house. Some people like to rent, especially if they're young. But it's cheaper to buy a house. I mean, you have to make big mortgage payments<sup>207</sup>. But it's worth it to own a property instead of paying rent forever. That being said<sup>208</sup>, it's getting more common to rent. Most people just don't have enough money to buy.

Topic 23 生活中不可或缺的东西

1. Why do children always bring toys with them wherever they go?

I think it's because toys give children a sense of comfort and security<sup>209</sup>. When they leave the house, it makes them feel safe and secure. Toys also keep children entertained. Children love playing with toys while they're out<sup>210</sup>. I always see kids playing with toys while they wait in line at the store.

2. Why do many people have difficulty throwing things away?

Well, some people have really good memories associated with an object, which makes it tough to throw it away. For example, someone may keep something just because it was a gift from their best friend when they were young. It might seem silly to some people, but lots of items hold treasured memories<sup>211</sup>.

3. Why are children attracted to new things (such as electronics)?

I would say that it's mainly because they want to be like their friends. As they get older, children feel pressure to be like others around them<sup>212</sup>. They can become very competitive, so they always want to have the newest thing. Children also get bored of things more quickly than adults. So they want new stuff more often.

4. What do you think influences people to buy new things?

I think one of the biggest influences is advertising. People see ads everywhere they look<sup>213</sup>, from their phone, to their emails and magazines. As far as I know, a lot of companies will track your purchases on their website<sup>214</sup>, and then send you targeted ads based on what you like to buy. This can make it hard to resist.

them: 孩子们会感到压力，让他们像周围的人一样

<sup>214</sup> track your purchases on their website: 在他们的网站上跟踪你的购物记录

5. Do people have more choices now when they are shopping?

Well, I don't think people have more choices in terms of what they buy. But they definitely have more choices in terms of how they shop. Thanks to online shopping<sup>215</sup>, people can choose to have their items shipped to them<sup>216</sup>. Or they can order them to be ready for pick up at the store.

6. Does social media increase sales?

Yes, social media can increase a company's sales. Many companies have a marketing department that focuses on increasing sales through social media. They can advertise their products directly or work with social media influencers<sup>217</sup>. Plus, you can see new purchases that your friends share on Weibo or WeChat. It might get you interested in<sup>218</sup> buying those things as well.

1. Do you think people should pay for higher education? Why?

No, I don't think people should pay for higher education. Most jobs require a degree in higher education. But young people from poor families might not be able to get a college education, and it might cause them to miss out on<sup>219</sup> jobs and have a hard life. So universities should be sponsored by the government<sup>220</sup>. There should still be requirements to get in. But money should not be an issue<sup>221</sup>.

2. Is it good or bad for people to have free education in the future?

I think free education would be good because it can help people get out of poverty<sup>222</sup>. The people who can't get higher education are usually from poor families. Then, without higher education, they can't get a high paying job. So it becomes a cycle<sup>223</sup>. Free education would make things more equal for everyone. Then, more people can get the careers they want.

3. What free gifts do companies usually give to their customers?

A lot of companies give their customers gifts to encourage them to buy more products or services. They might send a holiday gift to their regular customers, or a discount code<sup>224</sup> that they can use on a purchase. These gifts are great for marketing<sup>225</sup>. They're also a good way to encourage customers to recommend the company to their friends. So many large companies give gifts regularly.

4. Why do customers like to receive free gifts from companies?

Well, everyone likes free stuff. When a company gives out free samples or trials<sup>226</sup>, you can try their products without paying money. Besides, some companies like giving out free coupons<sup>227</sup> at events. It helps you spend less on their products. So, all customers like all kinds of free gifts from companies.

Topic 25 小时候喜欢的玩具

1. What are the differences when choosing toys for boys and girls? Do boys and girls like the same toys?

I think boys usually like toys that they can be more active with. For example, they might like kites because they can run around with them<sup>228</sup>. Girls, on the other hand, like toys that they can pretend to talk to. For example, girls like dolls because they can dress them up and use their imagination to play with them<sup>229</sup>.

2. What's the difference between the toys kids play with now and those they played with in the past?

Well, in the past, toys were a lot simpler. Kids played with things like blocks or puzzles. Some kids had dolls, but they weren't fancy. Nowadays, dolls are super customizable<sup>230</sup> and come with lots of outfits and accessories<sup>231</sup>. Kids also have more advanced toys, like remote cars, electronic toys and even smart toys that can connect to smartphones<sup>232</sup>.

3. What's your opinion when choosing a gift for kids?

When you get a gift for a kid, you should think about their interests. For example, if a kid really likes dinosaurs, a robotic dinosaur toy would be a thoughtful gift<sup>233</sup>. Besides, you don't want to get them anything too complicated or expensive. They might break it, or get frustrated with it<sup>234</sup> and not enjoy it.

4. What do parents usually buy for their children to make them happy?

I think parents like to buy toys for their kids to make them happy. Actually a lot of parents give their kids toys that they know they'll enjoy. Their kids feel happy because they know their parents care about their interests<sup>235</sup>. For example, active kids are definitely happier to get a skateboard from their parents than something else like a plush toy<sup>236</sup>.

<sup>228</sup> run around with them: 带着它们（风筝）到处跑

<sup>229</sup> use their imagination to play with them: 用她们的想象力和它们（娃娃）玩

<sup>230</sup> customizable: 可定制的

<sup>231</sup> come with lots of outfits and accessories: 搭配很多服饰和配饰

<sup>232</sup> smart toys that can connect to smartphones: 可以连接智能手机的智能玩具

<sup>233</sup> a thoughtful gift: 一个贴心的礼物

<sup>234</sup> get frustrated with it: 对礼物感到沮丧

<sup>235</sup> care about their interests: 关心他们的兴趣

<sup>236</sup> a plush toy: 毛绒玩具

5. Can girls play with toys that boys like to play with?

Yes, absolutely. Nowadays, most toys can be enjoyed by both girls and boys. But when it comes to toys that are specifically designed for boys, there's nothing wrong with<sup>237</sup> girls enjoying them as well. If girls find those toys fun, then they should be able to play with them.

6. Do you think parents should buy more toys for their kids or spend more time with them?

It seems to me that parents should spend more time with their kids. Buying toys for their kids is nice. But quality time is more valuable. I think the best solution is playing with them. They get to bond and build up their relationship with their kids. Nothing is more valuable than<sup>238</sup> spending time with your family.

7. Should advertising aimed at kids be prohibited?

I don't think it should be prohibited, but it should definitely be limited. There are some good examples of kids' advertising. For example, museums might have advertisements that show kids how fun educational content can be. But advertising for toys and other things can make kids too obsessed with having things. So that should be limited to some extent<sup>239</sup>.

8. How do advertisements influence children?

Advertisements can appeal to kids very effectively. They make the kids think that they need whatever product is being advertised. They might even influence kids to ask their parents for a certain toy<sup>240</sup>. It can make kids greedy and obsessed with having the newest thing<sup>241</sup>. Kids can be affected by advertisements very easily since they're so young.
