1.introduction (背景+改写题目+个人立场)

The environmental pollution is a thorny issue that confronts many countries all over the world. The issue about whether only governments and private companies have the capability to solve the problem remains controversial. In my view , while governments must no doubt create eco-friendly policy and do their part to bring about change, we, as individuals, have a crucial role to play as well.

个人立场论点一： In any ecosystem, all the parts are connected. The food we eat, the type of transport we choose, the way we consume and how much we consume as individuals all have a direct impact on the environment. Our individual habits might seem insignificant from our perspective, but at the macro level they add up in a big way. ←

个人立场论点二： In addition, while seemingly powerless, individuals can actually do a lot to make a difference. We can drive hybrid cars, conserve on electricity and water, buy local organic food and support environmentally-friendly brands. These are sustainable practices that can create a ripple effect.←

反方立场论点： However, this is not to say that governments should not also carry their weight. By encouraging 'green' business and creating incentives for good resource management and responsible consumption, they can help lead the way. Consider, for example, how US President Obama's words and plans about a 'green economy' have led to signs of renewed economic optimism in America. Governments can set the tone for change and do a lot to harness individual good will and momentum. But they also need individual support and appreciation to combat environmental problems. ←

To conclude, while governments and private companies have the responsibility, I still harbor the view that each individual should get involved in dealing with the problem. In the long run, the protection of our environment can positively contribute to social sustainability.

- 反方立场论点：To some extent, traditional games can cultivate children's social language skills. The rules for many traditional games are not in the written form, which means that when children play a game with their peers, they need to work on conversational turn taking, like presenting how to play a game and verbally expressing 'my turn' and 'your turn'. If there is one kid who cannot follow the rules, other children need to explain what to do and what rules one cannot break. Such language skills are not frequently practiced in modern games.
- 个人立场论点一：However, modern games mostly focus on the development of the skills to solve the problems that take place in real time. For example, in the board game, players roll dice to move around the game board, buying and trading properties, and developing them with houses and hotels. Players collect rent from their opponents, with the goal being to drive them into bankruptcy. This real-life game show children money lessons from the early game, including the importance of beginning investing, not pulling all your eggs in one basket and planning for the unexpected by always having a rainy-day fund. As those are the issues that happen in modern society, traditional games do not pay attention to them.

得分点2： 清晰的论点句

- 个人立场论点二： In addition, more modern games put much emphasis on the development of social skills. in modern society where social activities are becoming fewer than before, video games are a good way for children to always be connected with their fellows. For example, in a PC game called 'animal crossing', players will be asked to accomplish certain tasks for new animal villagers moving into their town in order to develop a relationship with them, like taking a package to a neighbor or catching a butterfly for them. From the game, younger children can learn how important it is to be helpful to those around you and how to communicate with others.

2. Some people say that what children watch influences their behavior. Others believe that the amount of time they spend on television influences their behavior most. Discuss both views and give your own opinion.↵

审题练习

主体段落一: on the one hand, the consequences of watching TV for long periods of time can be negative. Firstly, the addict to watching TV is potentially harmful to their physical behavior. The longer children are exposed to TV programs, the more likely it is for them to become addicted to watching television. When children become over-reliant on television for entertainment, they might neglect engagement in outdoor activities. This may result in a sedentary lifestyle that is highly harmful to their physical health. More importantly, excessive TV watching is not beneficial to children's social behavior. If they spend a huge amount of time in front of the screen, they would feel discouraged from having real interactions with people around them. As a result, they may find it hard to share feelings and views, exchange ideas as well as build social bond. ←

主体段落二: on the other hand, the content of TV programs would cause adverse impacts on children. Their worldview would be affected to a great extent. For children, TV programs are one of the main sources of information at present, which means that what they watch might influence how they see the world. For example, some TV shows present glamorized depictions of indecent behaviors like drug abuse and violence in order to increase the viewing rate, which might lead children who lack the ability to distinguish right from wrong to imitate such unhealthy habits and misconduct. Moreover, TV programs would influence children's consuming behavior. When exposed to plenty of commercial promotions in TV programs like what jewelries actresses wear, the young, who are immature and impressionable, are more likely to buy those goods to show their fashion taste. ←
