● 报告文体

Why is this the case? How to solve it?

题目20: These days, an increasing number of people from many cities know little about their neighbors and do not have a sense of community. What do you think are the causes and what solutions can you suggest?

1. Introduction

The phenomenon that the relationship with neighbors is not intimate has drawn increasingly widespread concern. In my view, the reasons leading to this trend are manifold, and this can be reversed.

2. 第一个原因

3. 第二个原因

4. 解决措施

5. Conclusion

To conclude, although it seems rather challenging to promote social bond with neighbors, it can be achieved through combined efforts. After all, in the long term, it can be beneficial to social harmony.

得分点2：清晰的论点句

- 论点句：

-回应立场

-概括到某一个角度

-简洁表达不要冗长

题目15：

Too much money is wasted on repairing old buildings that should be used to knock them down and build new ones.

- To what extent do you agree or disagree?
- 个人立场： although new buildings are more practical, time-honored buildings are indispensable cultural relics.

- 主体段落一（让步段落）： It is true that the practical use of a building should be given as the priority when it comes to the pursuit of modernity.

- 主体段落二（第一个理由）： However, old buildings can generate substantial economic value to a city.

- 主体段落三（第二个理由）： Moreover, in consideration of cultural identity, the merit of protecting historical buildings is remarkable.

得分点3： 清晰的论点句解释说明

making all museums free would encourage more people to appreciate art. If access to museums is free to the public, anyone can gain the opportunity to appreciate a variety of artworks regardless of their socioeconomic status. As a result, through those artworks, people can be inspired to generate more ideas in a wide range of areas from science to culture, and even can build more understanding to the world they have never experienced. Thus, free admission is a way to popularize education.

• Moreover, free admission to museums can improve the quality of life to the public. When people no longer need to pay for entering museums, we can use museums in ways that better fit our lives. To illustrate, we can see one painting everyday during our lunch breaks, we can come back again and again to see all the works we would miss in just one visit, we can take our children together to appreciate artworks, and students can come on school trips to experience history or science or art. As a result, our leisure activities can become more abundant, which can be beneficial to our spiritual satisfaction and mental health. .
