

For children, toys and sweets always bring happiness to them.

For students, it is happy to pass every exam in the school.

If they can study in a famous college, they must be thrilled.

After graduation, finding a job that they really like makes them very happy.

Once married, a happy marriage can help people to feel more content with life.

When they have a nice child, they think happiness is with them.

Many elderly people would like to live with their families.

Such family time is regarded as a happy time of their lives.

